Yesterday, Colin lost his bone. He was hungry so he decided to look for it.
First he looked in the house.

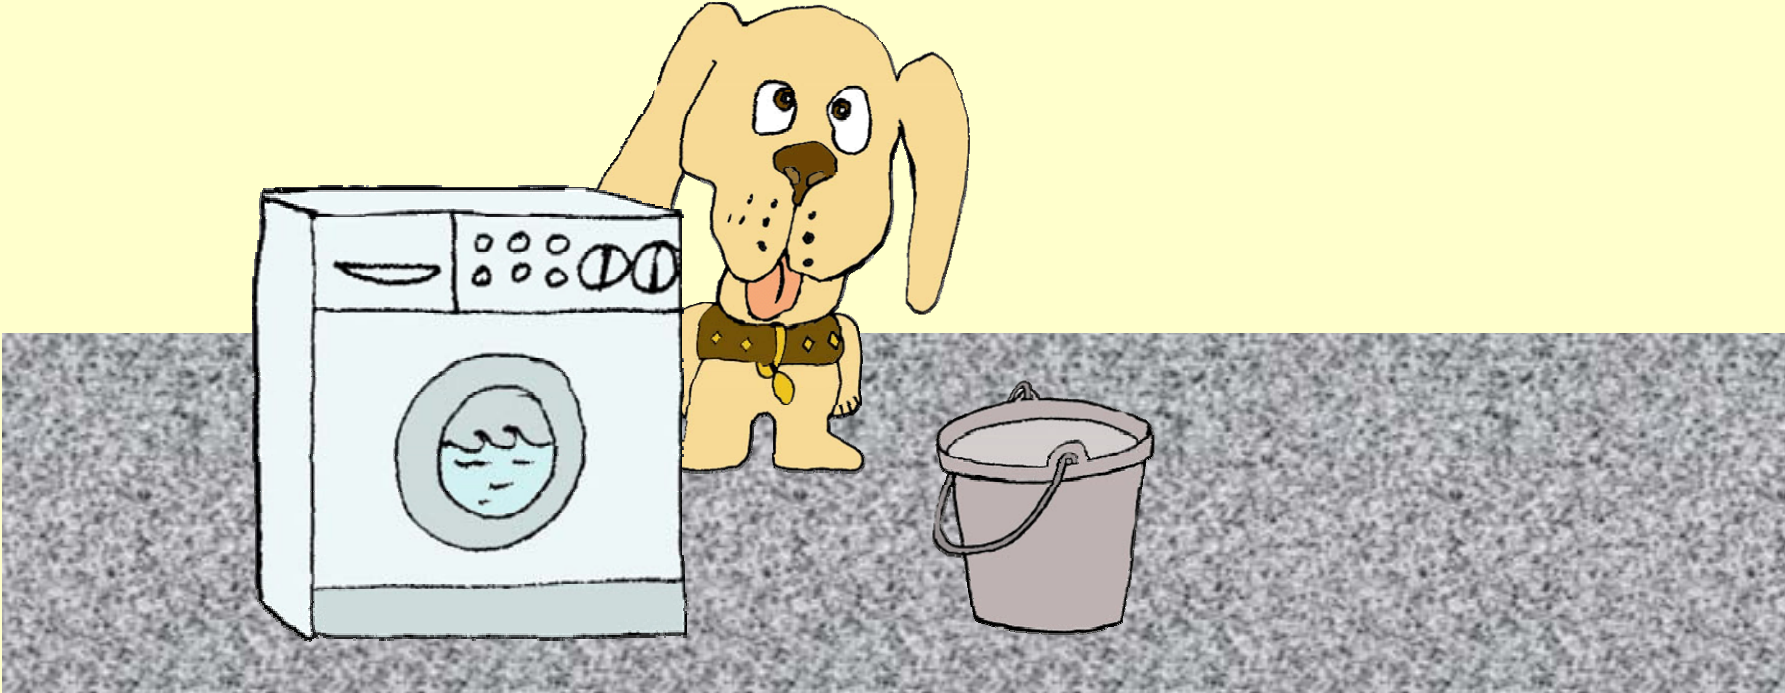

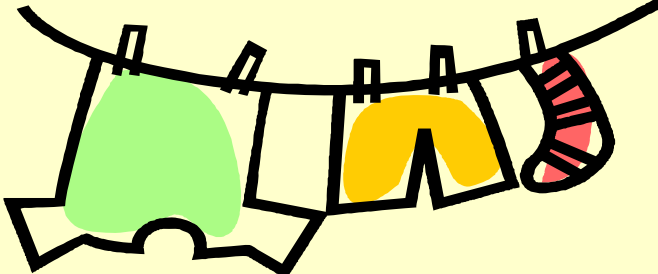

He looked under the rug but it was not there. So he walked on.....

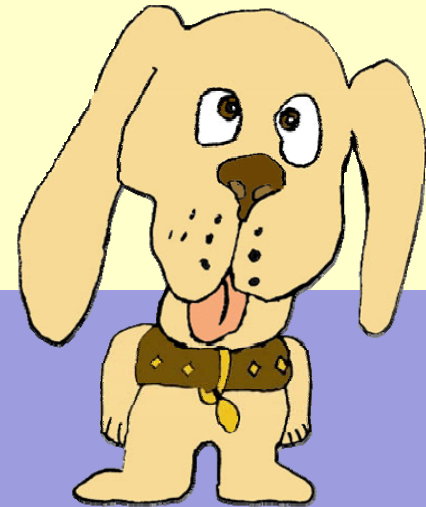

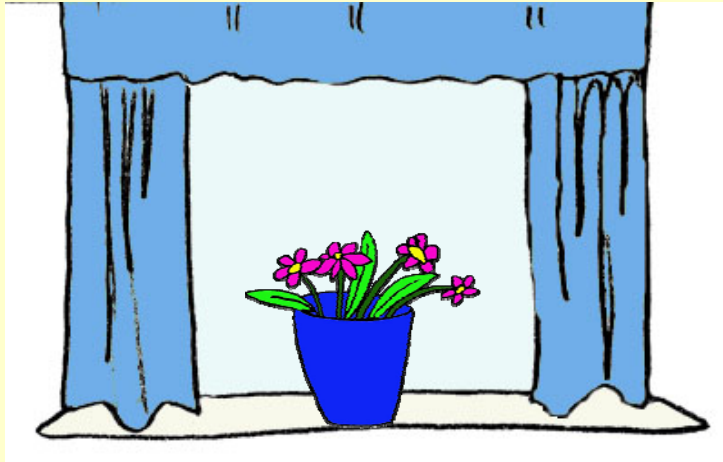

He looked in the bin but it was not there. So he walked on.....

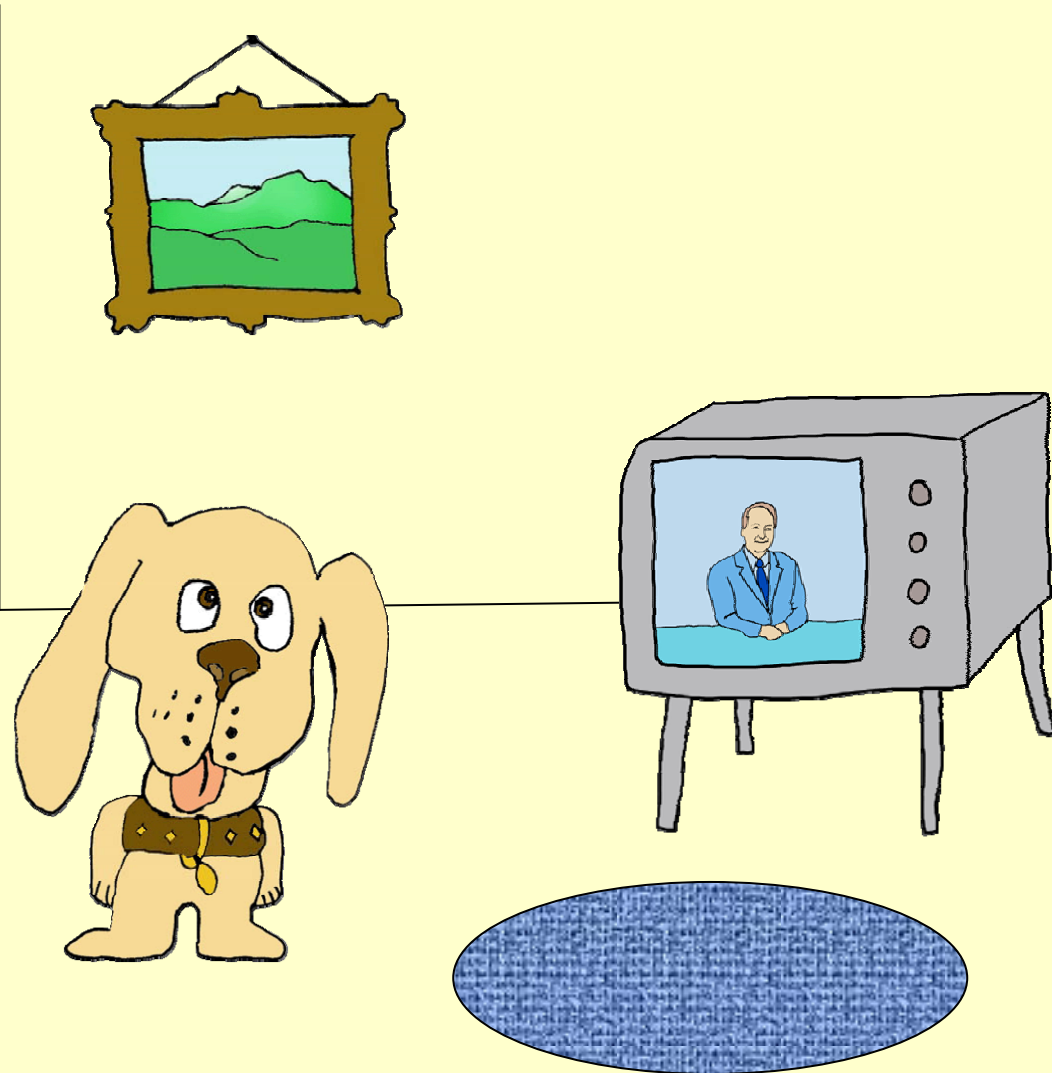

He looked between the washing machine and the bucket but it was not there. So he walked on.....

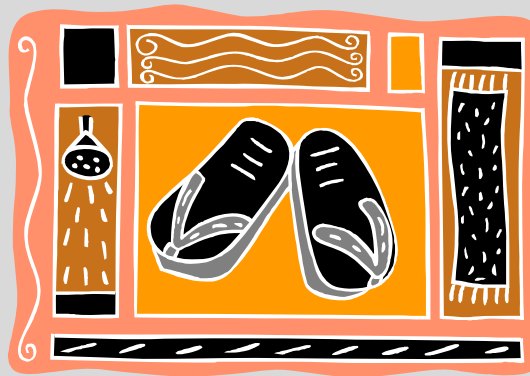

He looked behind the curtains but it was not there. So he walked on.....

He looked in front of the television but it was not there. So he walked on.....

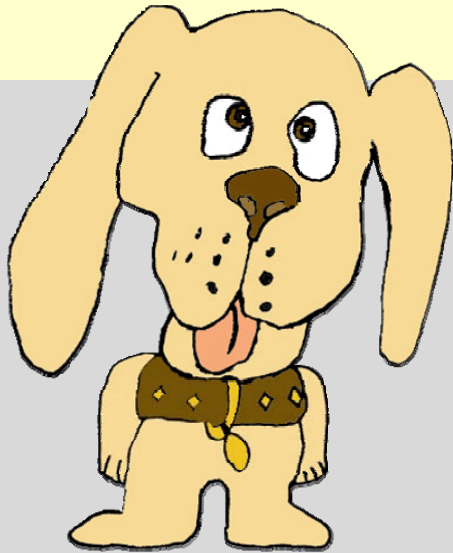

He looked over the bath but it was not in there. So he walked on.....

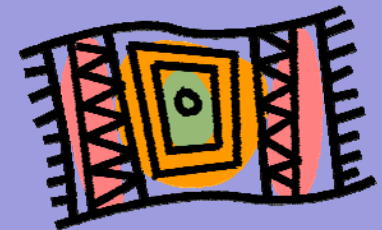

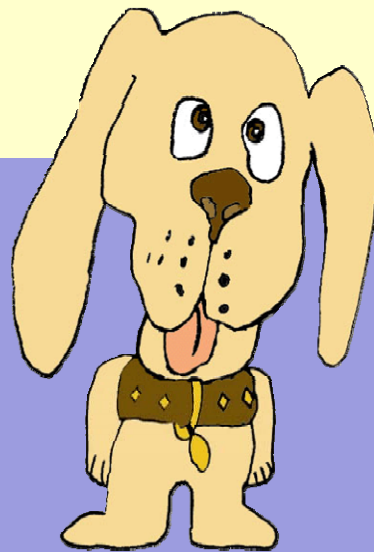

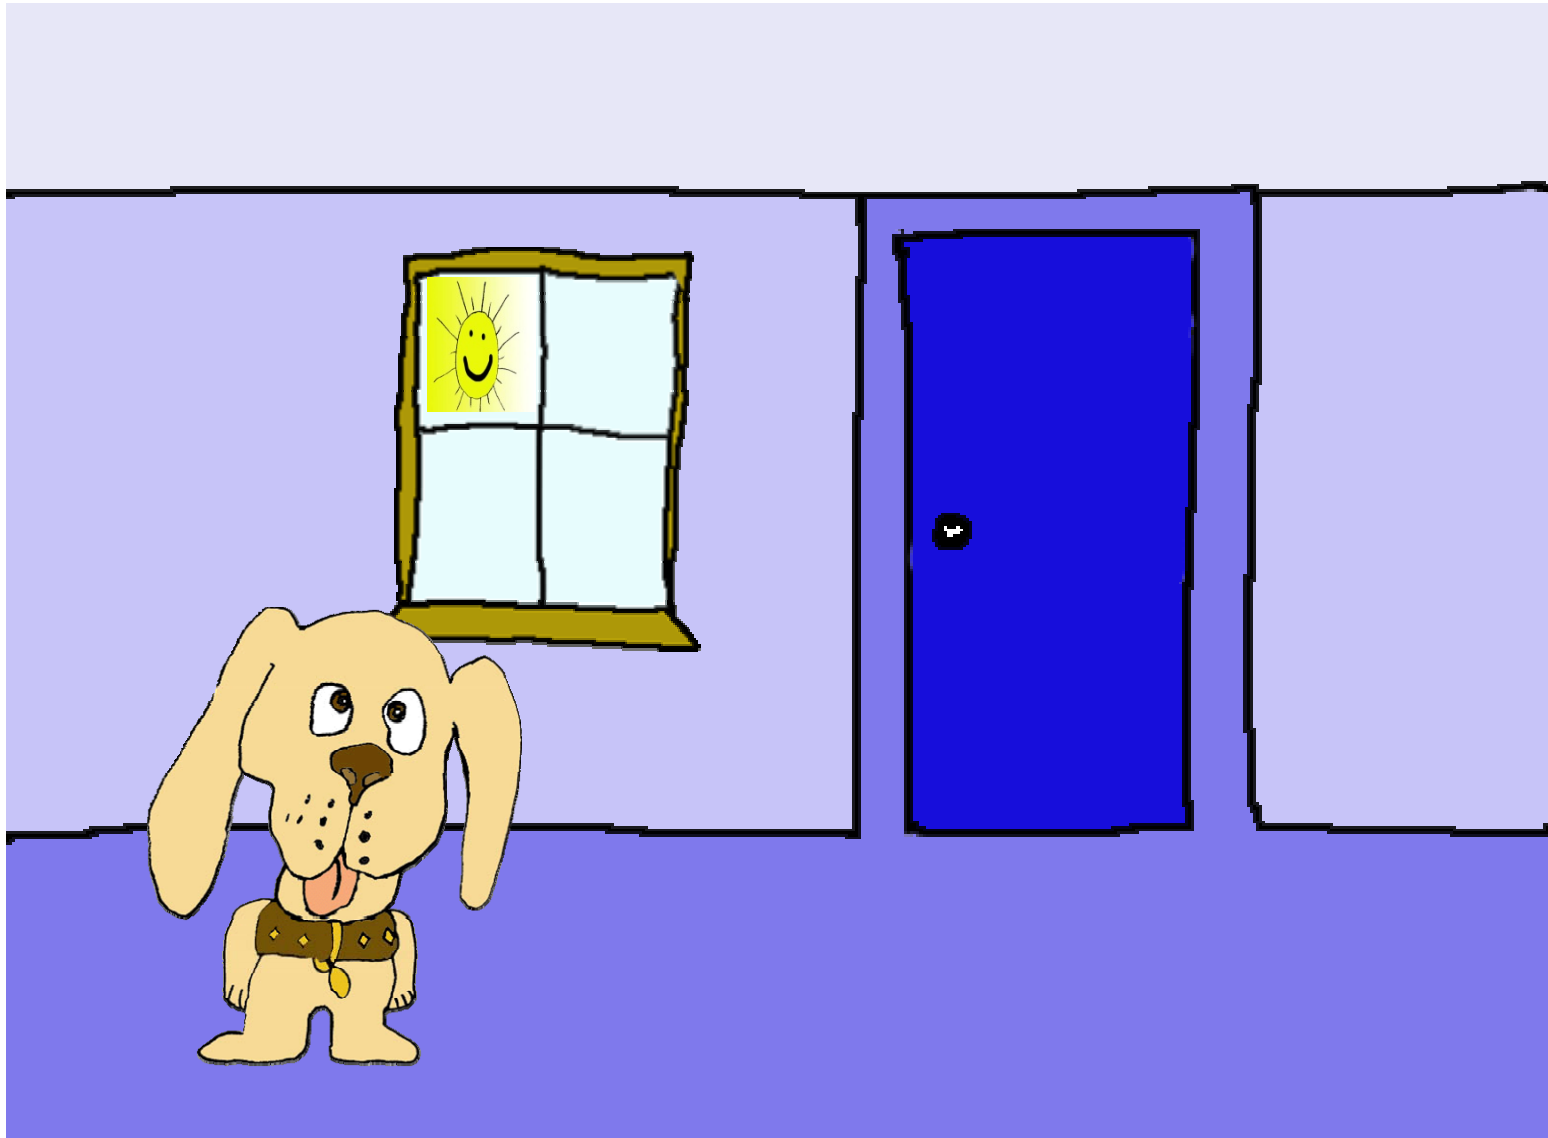

He looked in the shower but it was not there. So he walked on.....

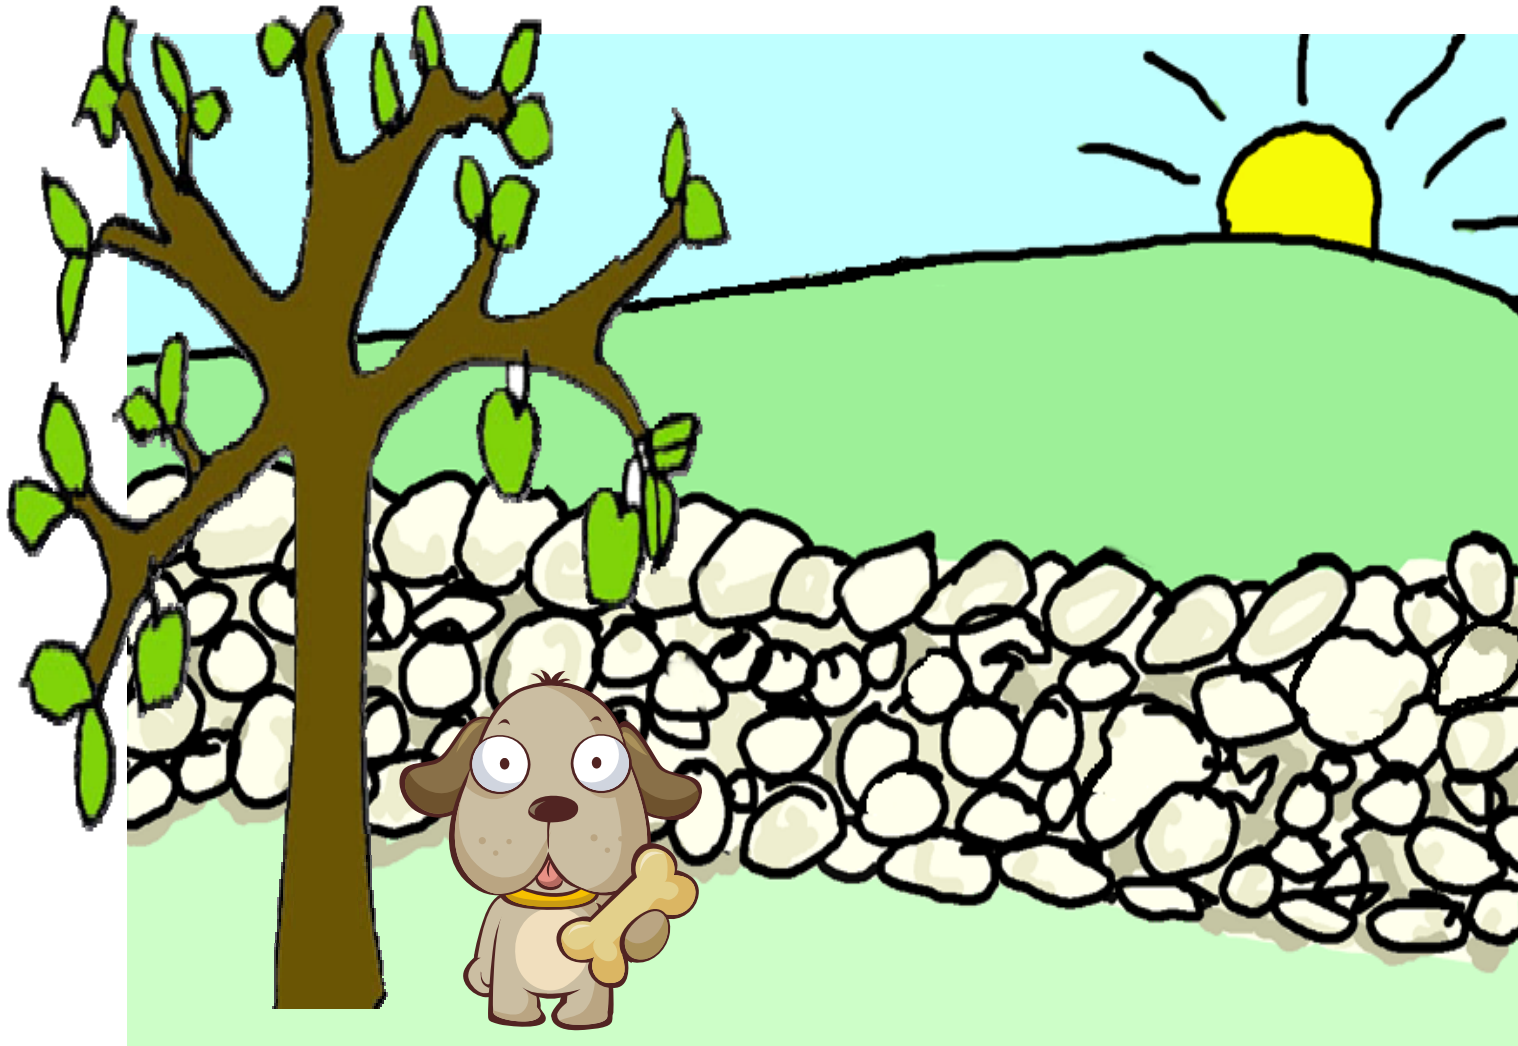

He looked on the chair. He found the cat but the bone was not there. So he walked on.

He looked out of the window. The sun was shining. He decided to go for a walk.....

He went out to the field. Next to the tree he saw his friend Basil. He ran up to Basil.

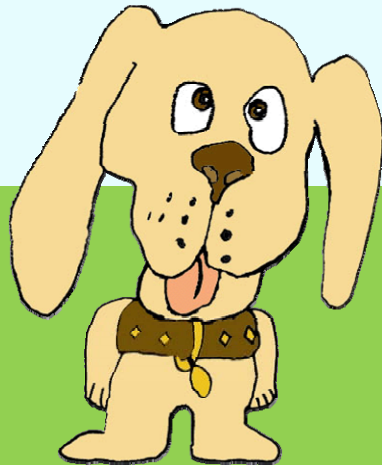

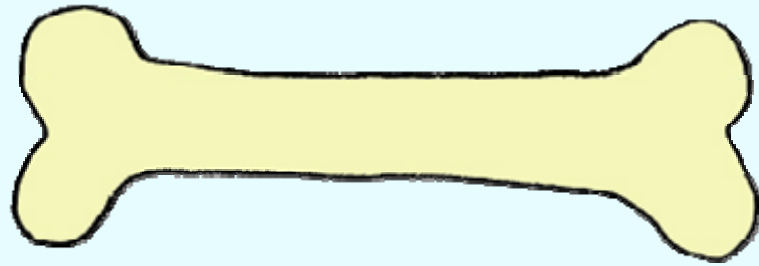

"I have looked:

under the rug,
in the bin,
between the washing machine and the bucket,
behind the curtains,
in front of the television,
in the bath and the shower,
on the chair.....

I should have just looked for Basil!
Thanks for finding my bone Basil. I have looked everywhere.
I looked up and down but could not find it.
I will put it in a safe place this time".
